

Pigs Extension Services

Extension services for pigs focus on improving nutrition, housing, disease control, reproductive management, and market linkages. Advisors train farmers on balanced diets, optimal barn design, biosecurity measures to prevent outbreaks like African Swine Fever, breeding protocols for gilt selection, and record-keeping for growth performance.

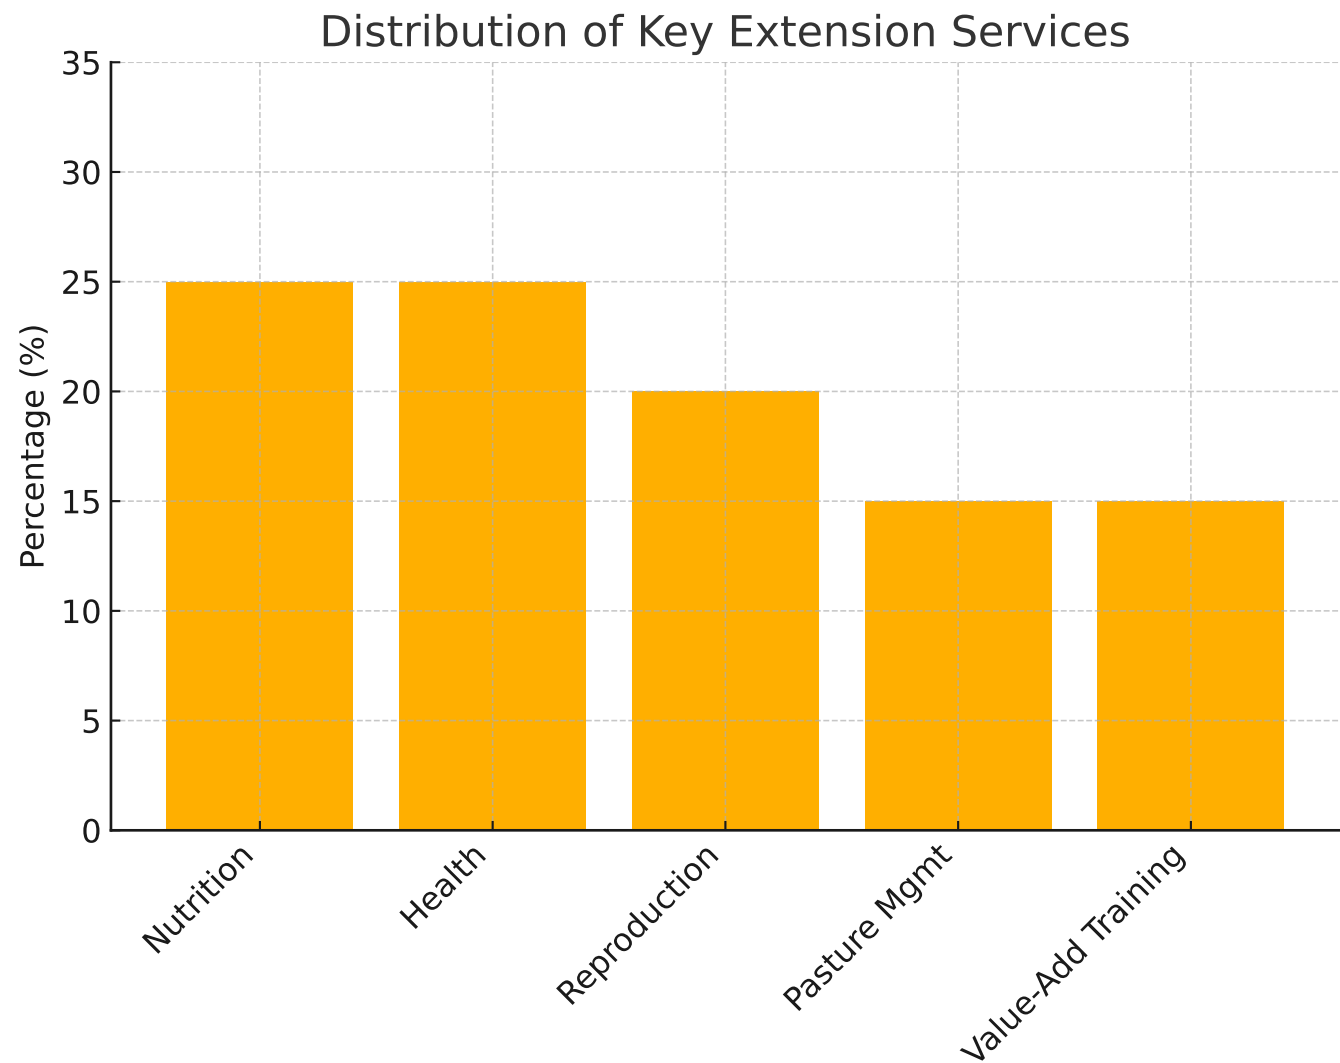

Goats & Sheep Extension Services

For goats and sheep, extension agents emphasize pasture and forage management, parasite control, breeding programs, housing improvements, and marketing strategies. Workshops cover rotational grazing, internal parasite monitoring, selection of breeding stock, simple shelters, and cooperative marketing for wool, meat, and dairy products.

Cattle Extension Services

Cattle extension services include herd nutrition, health management, reproduction, pasture optimization, and value-added training. Agents support balanced rations, vaccination schedules, artificial insemination techniques, pasture rotation, and training in milk or beef quality grading.

Chicken Extension Services

Poultry extension covers broiler and layer production, feed formulation, housing design, biosecurity, vaccination programs, and record-keeping. Training emphasizes feed conversion, ventilation, litter management, vaccination against common diseases, and egg/meat grading.
